Sangita: Stop this. On this day I never raised my voice against you and your mother. I have been so nice with you all tolerating all your tortures. I used to bring money and jewels from my parents whenever you asked. And this time there is no rain and no harvest.

They do domestic violence on me but I am help less because of my children I am always thought about them if I take action then what happen to my children because already they suffer a lot main thing drop out from school one day husband beat me and send me out of home that I got one who is work in Non government organization as a counsellor she helps me to come out from this problem

And now I'm staying happily with my husband come I will take you her In NGO counsellor- yes sure be relax sangita you can share every thing with me Your information will be confidential don't worry tell me

Geeta- Yes mam today I come for my friend. She is sangita she is suffered from domestic violence will you help her Just like me

gender discrimination means inequality in male and female. in our society many people think male is superior to female. In India there are many cultures which give more importance to Male
